It was thought that a double-header could be arranged tomorrow at one of the amateur league parks or one of the fields here or on Monday at American League Park. The Richmond team is bearing its own expenses and did not want to go away without some help from the Washington end.

John Berry, manager of the Portners, maintains he has a great team this season. "The Portners have won fifteen games and lost but one. That loss was sustained in the post-season series with the Duplex team. We have two fine pitchers in Dunn and Napler." said the Richmond manager, "and they can be expected to produce the goods here."

The Portners make no boast of their ability to play baseball, but are firmly imbued with the idea that they can ably uphold the reputation of the Richmond

It is not unlikely that an association meeting will be held tonight, although President Young was of the opinion that the matter of dates could be satisfactorily arranged by occrespondence.

The Aggies will profit by a lay-off to-day as the pitching staff is not in the best of shape. Lem Owen pitched two hard games last week resting but one day between games. Jerry Nops was wild in his start on Friday and Hobby Derrick's pitching has not been of the caliber to win over the Richmond nine, indiving from reports from the Virginia udging from reports from the Virginia

The Portners are reputed to have some hitters of ability. Several of the play-ers boast averages well over the .300 nark and there are one or two who have smashed out marks nearer .400.

he double-header scheduled between the Aggies and Portners for the intercity amsteur baseball championship has been called off today. President Young learned that American League Park was too wet to use. Overtures will be made to the Portner team to try and arrange the double-header for Monday if the authorities at the baseball park are agreeable.

Richmond fans and the Portners, here for the big double-header for the intercity championship scheduled for American League Park today, are a disappointed lot. Up to the last minute today it was thought that the double-header between the Portners and the Aggies would be played.

President Robert H. Young, of the Washington Amateur Association, and Secretary J. R. Hooper, of the Richmond president, Julien H Hill, arrived with a band of Virginia rooters on the noon train from Richmond. The heads of the associations met to decide just what was to be done in rexard to a future date.

R. W. Payne, who is the head of the Portner team, was more than disappointed at the failure to stage today's sames. The Portners left Richmond early this morning and got in a about a former, and of the Richmond rooters who came with the team and the load which came with the team and the loa
